General Manager's Report

Hi Everyone,

I trust all is going well as the year powers along.

This newsletter is primarily focused on the annual SISA Closing the Loop and has everything you need to know, whether it be Sponsorship opportunities, the actual programme of speakers, registration and tickets and venue, date of conference and facilities.

It will be an amazing SISA conference and be sure to book your tickets early!

News and Views

This month, we had the first session from Chris Sargent, Shopov Lawyers, presenting on the Psychosocial Regulations and Code of Practice. We had over a hundred registrations for this session, both participants attending and online, and it was a very informative session and there are 2 more to go in this topic from Chris. (See later in the newsletter)

Keep across all of our professional development activities for this year by viewing Save the Dates below.

We also had a good session from Joe Parisi of Gilchrist Connell lawyers on Impairment Assessments that was also very well attended. SISA are presenting 2 or more professional development sessions for members per month until the end of this calendar year, so register your attendance.

The sessions are live streamed and later available to watch on the website.

RTWSA had 3 good consultation sessions with SISA members who answered an expression of interest from us to be involved. The sessions focused on the Evaluation report, methodology and structure, the mid-term review and partnership plans. Many thanks to the 18 members who attended across the three sessions and provided their suggestions and feedback, and to RTWSA for seeking out the feedback from SISA. RTWSA are looking to achieve more consistency in the reports and to structure them for the most benefit for self-insurers as well as achieving the purpose of the evaluation.

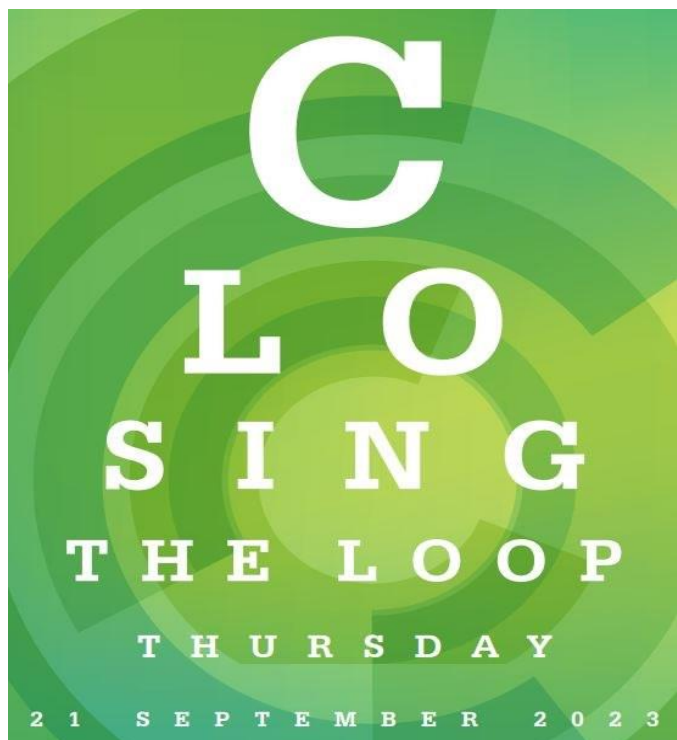

RTWSA also hosted an update forum for employers at the Pavillion on 24/5/23 and see what was discussed here:

ReturnToWorkSA Average Premium Rate for 2023-24 \(rtwsa.com\)

Reduce the risk of sprains and strains in your workplace \(rtwsa.com\)

People are returning to work sooner \(rtwsa.com\)

In terms of the regulatory framework for self-insurers that RTWSA have been working on, in conjunction with PwC, that work is still ongoing and to be followed by consultation with a view that implementation will be in the '24/'25 Financial year. This includes the work they have been doing with Scheme actuaries regarding SIICA and the Financial Guarantee and ensuring both of these mechanisms are fit for purpose-stay tuned.

Would you like to be part of our monthly spotlight?

Each month SISA can cast a spotlight on a Full or Associate member in order to provide examples of their expertise and various benefits they have available so that we can first look in-house when we are looking for assistance in their fields.

If you would like to be included in our monthly Newsletter, please let us know - sisa@sisa.net.au

Member Updates

Have you changed address? Do you want to be included on our mailing list? Is there a new contact at your worksite? Have any details changed? Or problems accessing our website? We are constantly looking for ways to improve our service, so please let us know of any changes or if anything is not working as it should and we will investigate with our Technical Support.

Please feel free to email us with feedback or queries sisa@sisa.net.au.

Position's Vacant or Person Available

We also provide a platform for positions vacant within your organisation, please email the seek advertisement link to us at SISA and we will send out the advertisement to our members. This service is free for our full and associate members. If you also know of anyone looking for work in the appropriate fields, we can advertise them as a person available, feel free to discuss with Wayne or Amanda.

Newsletter

Is there anything that we are not reporting on that you would like to see more of in our Newsletter? We have been trialing the new format and so far, it has doubled our hits and views. Please utilise the opportunity to show case your organisation as it is a great way to network and generate interest. Send any images or showcase information to sisa@sisa.net.au
